2011

All fairy tales begin with “Once upon a time...”

1989, Caroline the Mother and Eugénie the Daughter arrived in Paris.

Little did they know at the time that 22 years later they would create a family friendly concept store?

During a seven years expatriation period in The Netherlands, Caroline opens at home her first “Expat meeting-point” in the form of a “Café – Second-hand shop”.

Back to Paris, becoming mother of three children, she meet again with her daughter Eugénie and together, on May 14th, 2011, they give birth to the first “Intergenerational Concept-store” in the 15th district of Paris called:

« Une mère, Une fille à Paris »
